Pinchot's State Store Plan Of Liquor Sales Meeting With Opposition

By G. EVERETT DOYING

HARRISBURG, Nov. 14.—Gov. Gifford Pinchot's liquor control plan providing for the establishment of state stores gained ground over several opposition measures this afternoon when the judiciary general committee agreed to report it to the floor of the house with minor amendments.

The committee also decided to report out the administration's measure removing the alcoholic content restrictions from the existing beer law and the Wilson bill increasing brewery and distillery permit fees.

HARRISBURG, Nov. 14.—Recovery legislation pushed forward rapidly in the state senate today while house committees juggled a variety of liquor control and taxation measures—six bills embodying Gov. Gifford Pinchot's plans and five others sponsored individually.

Two of the administration's three recovery bills were on the second reading calendar in the upper house. A third appeared in committee. Introduction of five more to enable the Keystone State to participate in the national recovery drive was expected. All liquor bills, including a twelfth introduced in the senate, were in committee.

Two Measures Speeded.

The two recovery measures swept through committee and first reading yesterday. One would permit the governor to borrow federal funds for a $14,000,000 public works program and the second would enable the state highway department to obtain federal funds for bridge construction.

Many auto drivers were delayed at the top of hills on the city streets this morning, awaiting the belated arrival of the city street department ashing trucks, to put the hills in safe condition for driving. Other more daring drivers braved the icy hills and slowly made their way downward.

If present weather conditions continue, November may set a record for early snowfall. Almost as much snow has fallen this month of December last year, when the only sledding of the winter was enjoyed.

COMMUNIST PROPAGANDA CONTROL AGREEMENT SOUGHT

By KINGSBURY SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—An understanding for the protection of Americans who may work in Russia and for control of communist propaganda in this country was being sought by President Roosevelt today as a prerequisite to American recognition of the Soviet union.

This was learned in an authoritative quarter as the Russo-American discussions emerged from the technical phase of exchanging views to the stage of bargaining.

The president, it was said, is seeking an understanding with Maxim Litvinoff, the Soviet foreign commissar, to prevent the kind of trouble encountered by other countries after they had recognized the Soviets.

In the case of Great Britain which was the chief sufferer, these difficulties centered around the arrest of British Nationals in Russia on espionage charges and communist propaganda activities in England. The latter caused an actual rupture of relations in 1927 and the former the virtual recall of the British ambassador from Moscow early this year followed by economic warfare.

One safeguard being sought by the president concerning the protection of American Nationals who may work in Russia is an understanding similar to that which Germany has with the Soviets under the treaty of Rapallo.

This provides that the embassy must be notified within a specified time of the arrest of any German national and that the ambassador or an official of the embassy must be allowed to see the prisoner without delay.

Zalick And Rausch Enter Guilty Pleas In Local Robberies

Resting in the county jail today for their December court trials were George Zalick and Walter Rausch, who, before Alderman O. H. P. Green on Monday afternoon, entered guilty pleas to two separate robbery charges brought by J. T. Atkinson and Marion T. Woods, owners of homes the pair ransacked some time before a house fire at the Harbor set off officers on the trail of what ultimately led to the solution.

France Extends Olive Branch

Collaboration Sought As Means Of Handling German Relations

(International News Service)
PARIS, Nov. 14.—France today extended the olive branch to Germany, her traditional enemy throughout the ages.

Admitting that Chancellor Adolf Hitler's overwhelming victory in Sunday's plebiscite confronts France with but one alternative, Foreign Minister Joseph Paul-Boncour told the Chamber of Deputies:

"There are two ways to handle our relations with Germany—force or collaboration. We choose collaboration."

In almost the same breath, however, Paul-Boncour charged openly that Germany was re-arming and that the Nazi Reich under the leadership of Chancellor Hitler is a menace to the peace of Europe.

"Germany," the foreign minister declared, "is re-arming."

"It would be a race toward the abyss if France were to increase her arms in turn."

Wallace Slated To Become Czar Of Legal Liquor

Distillery Interests Grumbling At Selection Of Secretary Of Agriculture

GEORGE N. PEEK AS ASSISTANT

Four Provisions Have Been Agreed Upon By Liquor Manufacturers

By PAUL C. YATES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—America's newly legalized liquor industry, feverishly active in preparation for actual repeal next December 5, today looked forward with some misgivings to the prospect of having a political dry and a "teetotaler" as its probable czar.

Spokesmen for the big distillery interests are grumbling at the rigid restrictions which Secretary of Agriculture Wallace seeks to impose through a grain marketing agreement and a code of fair competition.

Wallace To Serve
Wallace, politically and personally arid, is tentatively slated to serve as the administration officer in charge of code enforcement for the distillers.

Under provisions to which the liquor manufacturers already have agreed, and additional restrictions favored by the administration, he may exercise truly czaristic power.

Part of this power he will probably delegate to farm administrator George N. Peek, who favored repeal and is not averse to a drink now and then.

Public hearings on the distillers' marketing agreement and code have (Continued On Page Two)

Poor old league. Always left, on account of having no policemen, nobody was going to pay much attention to it.

We just seem to be living in an era when good ideas don't get over. Everybody is out to protect themselves in a clinch, they are not depending on the referee helping 'em out much.

Look at little Switzerland, always gone along minding their own business. Now they got them going out buying a gun. The world has just lost faith in a bunch of guys with silk hats.

Hoodoo "13" Has No Terror For Assemblyman McElwee

The hoodoo number 13 has no terrors for Hon. William McElwee, Jr., General Assemblyman from the Second District of Lawrence County. His service this time in the special session of the General Assembly is sprinkled with thirteens.

First, the session was called for November 13. Next, Governor Pinchot included 13 items for consideration in his call. Then Mr. McElwee gets seat 13 and the only thing needed to complete the cycle is to have the session last for 13 weeks. Judging from preliminary rumblings this is not altogether improbable.

This is Mr. McElwee's third special session as a member of the House. He served first in the regular session of 1931 and in the special session of 1931. In the summer of 1932 another special session was called and now the special session of 1933.

Hamm Repudiates His Own Testimony

By MILTON S. MAYER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

ST. PAUL, Minn., Nov. 14.—Their case hard hit by William Hamm's repudiation of his own testimony, the federal prosecutors of Roger Touhy and three of his henchmen for the $100,000 kidnapping of Hamm today worked to regain lost ground.

Hamm's refusal yesterday to identify Edward ("Father Tom") McFadden, one of the defendants, as one of his abductors after he had made positive identification of McFadden last Friday, is a body blow to the government's case. The prosecution now pins its hopes on other witnesses and several surprise moves.

One of these is the hope of bringing John "Jake the Barber" Factor here from Chicago to identify the four hoodlums, all of whom are also under indictment for the kidnapping of Factor last July, a month after the millionaire St. Paul brewer was abducted.

On unimpeachable authority International News Service has learned that the only thing that stands in the way of the government's calling Factor is the question of the "competence" of his testimony, as the lawyers phrase it. Factor, it has been learned, may identify Touhy's three co-defendants, McFadden, Gus Schaefer and Willie Sharkey, as occupants of a house with Touhy, whom Factor says he can identify as his kidnappers.

Snows, ranging from slight flurries to full-fledged blizzards, today held Pennsylvania in the icy grasp of winter.

With only the eastern seaboard reporting temperatures above freezing, highways were coated with ice and snow, delaying traffic. Accidents were frequent.

Three deaths attributed indirectly to the snow and cold weather which has swept the state in the last week were reported in Kane, Pa., where snows have covered the ground to a depth of more than two feet.

Mrs. Margaret Jones, 44, of Mt. Jewett, died last night of injuries received in a head-on automobile collision on icy pavements. T. B. Dougherty, 75, died from a heart attack caused by over-exertion on a tramp through the woods. The third death in the Kane district was that of John Olson, who died as an overheated stove fired his dwelling.

Those lovely poems on the snow make easy reading in the spring, when buds are blooming on the bough and all the little birds sing. But when you have a trip to make, and it's imperative to go, there's lots of things that you don't need and one of them is lots of snow. It may be beautiful and soft and fleecy like a downy quilt, but not so good when it piles up and blankets you up to the hill. And holds you back and smooths your wheels and lets the steering gadgets play, ah me the snow can be a bore, the weather's thirty six today.

GREENBACK PLAN IS DEFINITELY OUT

Move Against Inflation Plan

Only Direct Action By Congress Would Occasion Greenbacks Issue

ALL CREDIT NEEDED CAN BE PROVIDED

By ROBERT S. THORNBURG
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—With the administration moving in the direction of strengthening government credit today, leaders insisted that currency inflation through the issuance of greenbacks under the Thomas amendment was definitely out. The only alternative to that program would be direct action by congress that would force the treasury to put out the unbacked currency contemplated by the Thomas plan.

Bond Market Strengthens
Officials were heartened by the strengthening of the government bond market yesterday and expressed hope for a continuance of that tendency in view of the large financial operations of the next few months which will involve the retirement of several billion dollars in bonds and new issues well in excess of those figures.

"It is essential that government credit be maintained on a sound basis," one official said. "Government bonds must be kept as the safest investment that can be made in the United States and the administration will move in that direction."

No Need Of Greenbacks
As to the greenback issue officials pointed out that all possible credit requirements of the country for normal purposes and to meet the exigencies of the recovery drive can be met by federal reserve notes, Federal Reserve Bank notes and National Bank notes.

The reserve notes now are backed by nearly 100 percent in gold where by the statutory requirement is but forty percent. Many billions of dollars in these notes and the bank notes may be issued by the government without violating the present collateral requirements.

WALLACE SLATED TO BECOME CZAR OF LEGAL LIQUOR

been delayed by Wallace's absence. A lively under-cover war is being waged between the distillers and the administration.

Four Provisions

Provisions to which the liquor manufacturers have agreed include:

1. The licensing of every distillery by the A. A. A.
2. Use of American grain exclusively in the production of high-proof liquors, and payment of farm parity prices for this grain.
3. Unrestricted right of the Secretary of Agriculture to examine all books and records of the distilleries.
4. Approval by Wallace of every liquor representative named to the code authority, or governing board, or the industry. This authority will consist of 15 voting members but Wallace can name his own representative to sit with the board in a non-voting capacity.

Seek Safeguards

Despite these concessions, some of which were made by the distillers under protest, the administration seeks additional safeguards applying to liquor manufacture.

One of these safeguards would enlarge the "fair practice rules" to protect the public against his branding of liquor. Another would strengthen the administration's control over liquor output and the installation of new factory equipment.

The completed code will embody suggestions made by the White House, the agricultural, justice, treasury and commerce departments and the NRA.

CONGRESSMAN SWICK TO PRESS COMPLAINTS ON POST OFFICE BLDG.

Charles B. Mayne and city councilmen and leaders in community activities, heard repeated the charges made at a similar meeting one week before that faulty material had been used in the building and that the general contractor, or his agents, had allegedly made threats against the government's construction engineer.

The repetition followed investigation of O'Brien's opening statement that "since 10:30 a. m. this morning I have been investigating the new building—and frankly gentlemen I've found nothing wrong with the material or the workmanship, either in the stone, steel, brickwork or setting of the stone."

Mr. O'Brien pointedly summed up the steps of the difficulties from the time the department was notified of them until yesterday, and as he spoke of the stone, conferees interrupted him with questions.

Not Informed

Asked Congressman Swick: "Isn't it a fact, Mr. O'Brien, that limestone was unloaded here before Mr. Eastburn, the sub-contractor who furnished the sandstone, wrote me stating that it was impossible to quarry more sandstone for the building?" Mr. O'Brien said he was not informed as to that and could not answer.

The government representative cautioned the group that to allow the post office walls to stand as they are throughout the winter "would be a mighty dangerous thing" and urged them to proceed with the work.

Question after question was answered by the federal spokesman, at times unable to satisfy his inquisitors because the matters did not directly come to his desk in New York.

Mr. O'Brien did the meeting become so tense, but that question brought a sharp reply from the investigator.

"Mr. O'Brien," asked Mr. Round, "are you here today as an impartial representative of the United States government or as a conciliator for Mr. Kutsche?"

Want Building Right

For the moment O'Brien eyed the audience, and then, in a lowered voice, and facing "Mr. Round, said, "gentlemen, I think that is a wholly unwarranted statement." Round promptly answered by saying "that the taxpayers are paying the money for this building and want it to be right."

Objections had been raised against a part of the stonework in the building, which, according to information brought out, had not been given the architect's approval. It concerned the rear portion of the building, where sandstone was to be used almost to the top of the building.

It was alleged that limestone had been set before that top line was reached. "Government Engineer Ignored?" J. W. Mercer, member of the Holland & Mercer firm, declared, in the course of the meeting, that the government engineer had been ignored throughout, particularly in the stone work. He said that in the building today will be found stone which he rejected.

Mercer charged that the general contractor has let it be known to others of us on the job, that "you're not working for the government, but the Kutsche company. If you don't like the building, we'll buy it." "If their lobbyist in Washington has got the pull they say he has," Mercer told the group, "it's a shame on our government." Of the sandstone in the building he said "it's the poorest conception of sandstone of any type I've ever seen in my life."

Congressman Swick, after it was announced to the group that the Kutsche company took over the sandstone quarry from Eastburn two weeks after work started, declared that "I think I know now who inspired the letter, over Eastburn's signature, about the scarcity of stone." He asked O'Brien what part Eastburn had in the picture, if Kutsche was operating the quarry.

Swick to Continue Probe
Investigator O'Brien made it plain to the conferees that he would report to Washington that material and workmanship on the building are "satisfactory," and it was here that O'Brien was asked just how an appeal could be taken from his recommendation.

Wasting no further time, the group, approving a motion put by Fred J. Rente, which requested Congressman Swick his continued interest and asked of him to furnish regular reports on progress, immediately adjourned.

The congressman announced following the conference that "stonework will remain idle here until something is done." He will go to Washington to carry the complaints to higher officials.

The third recovery bill and a resolution designed to permit cancellation of state contracts held by persons whose expenses have soared under the NRA codes remained in committee.

Prohibit Open Saloon.
The governor's bill "prohibit forever the open saloon" and thrust the Commonwealth into the liquor business by establishment of state stores, hotels, restaurants, clubs, dining cars, and boats, as retailers, would purchase through the state stores and make sales only with meals. The state alcohol permit board would issue licenses, the fees of which would be double those for beer retailers.

One tax measure provides for a $2 per gallon tax on liquor stored or manufactured in this state before repeal. The other levies a $1 per proof gallon on liquor distilled or imported after repeal; 30 cents per proof gallon on rectified spirits; and one cent per unit of proof gallon on wines, license fees for brewers would be boosted from $100 to $1,000 while distillery permit fees would be changed from $100 to one cent per gallon capacity with a minimum of $5,000 per annum.

Another measure would remove the 32 per cent alcohol content limitation from the existing beer act and transfer wine to the spirituous liquor classification.

The senate document on liquor would provide temporary prohibition in Pennsylvania from December 5 until a control measure is adopted.

Three other house liquor measures are patterned after the old Brooks high license law authorizing judges to license private individuals. Another would establish a liquor control board to regulate state manufacture and sale while the last would make it unlawful to transport beverages of more than 32 per cent alcoholic content except in original packages.

Fight On Liquor Bills

Harrisburg, Nov. 14.—Stormy weather, a wave of liquor bills in the special session of Pennsylvania's General Assembly today as Democratic members, 67 strong, decided upon a policy of "watchful waiting" to see what the Republicans have to offer on liquor legislation.

This procedure was decided upon at a Democratic caucus last night when party leaders, spurred by recent successes at the polls, went on record for enactment of social legislation and laws to aid the national recovery campaign.

"Our course is not dictated by fear," asserted Senator Warren R. Roberts, chairman of the Democratic liquor legislation committee.

"We were courageous enough in our national program to bring back justice and the people vindicated our judgment. When we are ready to act we will offer legislation that will be acceptable to the people of Pennsylvania."

Two Pass Second Reading

Harrisburg, Nov. 14.—Two administration recovery bills passed second reading in the senate today but one struck a snag and was returned to the finance committee.

The Gelder bill authorizing the department of highways to borrow federal funds for bridge construction passed second reading and remained on the calendar for final passage tomorrow.

The Scott bill authorizing the governor to borrow federal money for approximately $14,000,000 in construction work went back to committee after being approved on second reading.

The house judiciary committee, holding several liquor bills, was to meet early this afternoon for discussion of the bill entrusting Gov. Gifford Pinchot's state store plan of liquor control.

A bill appropriating $100,000,000 from the state's general fund for work or direct unemployment relief was introduced by Rep. Darlington Hoopes, Berks socialist. The measure would authorize payment of unemployed in money instead of with food.

Hoopes also introduced the first anti-eviction bill of the special session.

pace in Pittsburgh and other communities in the western section of the state as workers headed for their labors this morning. Ice-covered streets made both vehicular and pedestrian traffic extremely hazardous. Several minor accidents were reported in Pittsburgh proper.

Nine persons escaped injury when an automobile turned over in the city. Four others were injured, two seriously, when their machine skidded in street car rails and crashed into a pole in West Homestead.

Roads Hazardous.
Road conditions were hazardous throughout the western section of the state as far east as Bedford. Coatings of ice on the roads made them extremely slippery with chains required by auto club officials. Chain crews were dispatched to many sections.

Air traffic was also hampered by the storm as airport weather bureaus reported snow general throughout the state with heavy storms raging in the mountainous areas. Visibility was limited to a half-mile in most sections.

Cross winds of approximately 20-miles-an-hour velocity were registered by the emergency landing fields in the mountains.

Railroad movements, for the most part, were on schedule.

Persons in the social swim are now using the crawl stroke.

prove that Brooke is held by you. All negotiations will be considered confidential by us and we will allow no interference from any outside source."

The statement was signed by the father and the mother, Mrs. Nettie B. Hart.

Kidnaping Doubtful
At the same time Hart, senior in answer to Chief of Police J. N. Black, declared that "there can be no question that Brooke is kidnaped."

He also said that he had received word, either directly or indirectly from kidnapers, since the disappearance of his son.

Doubt of the kidnaping of the youth, who was vice president of his father's store, was cast by Chief Black.

"There are too many off-color angles to this case to convince me that it is a genuine kidnaping," said the chief.

"In the first place the original call from the supposed kidnapers came too soon after the disappearance of young Hart. That was within a few minutes after his car was found."

No Interference With Sunday Sports

Mayor Mayne Does Not Believe Local Ordinance Necessary Yet

There will be no police interference with regulated sports promotions on Sunday here Mayor Charles B. Mayne declared today. He said that the people having voted for Sunday sports he considered it now a state law.

Asked if the council would soon introduce an ordinance in conformity with the state law, he said he did not believe such was necessary at this time but added that "eventually there will be an ordinance introduced and adopted."

However, it is anticipated he indicated that there may be a license placed on Sunday sports affairs and if the city wishes to secure fees from the promotions the new council will probably enact such an ordinance.

So live that people will wonder how the wreck happened instead of giving you a knowing wink.

The first number, a "Symphony" consisting of three parts, Regina Pacis, Mater Dolorosa and Stella Maris, was played perfectly by Thomas H. Webber, organist, who is rapidly gaining recognition not only in New Castle but throughout the country for his playing. Appreciation of his work was shown by an alert audience filling the two sections of the auditorium to capacity.

The second feature was the song "In A Persian Garden" presented beautifully by Lillian Stambaugh, George McDonald, Madeline Rugh and Charles Richards with Mr. Webber directing and accompanying at the organ. They memorized each verse.

As the concluding selections Mr. Webber again pleased with "To An American Soldier" by Thompson; "On Wings Of Song" by Mendelssohn; "Scherzo" by Debussy; "Evening Star" by Wagner and "Grand Choeur Dialogue" by Gigout. CLUB WOMEN HEAR CONVENTION REPORT

At the semi-monthly meeting of the New Castle Woman's Club, held Monday afternoon in the Highland church a splendid report of the October state federation convention in Pittsburgh was given by Mrs. J. G. Chalfant, president of the southwestern district of Pennsylvania.

Mrs. Jessie Nelson Reed was in charge of the musical part of the program, which included vocal numbers by Richard Johns, "Requiem" by Sidney Homer; "The Little Tavern" by Vanderlip, and "Poor Man's Garden" by Russell, with Mrs. Paul Walsh as accompanist, and a piano number "Hark! Hark the Lark", Schubert-Liszt, by Miss Helen Ewing.

Mrs. H. M. Kirk introduced the speaker of the afternoon, who gave the high lights of the convention, which was held in the William Penn hotel. She spoke of the dramatic effects of this year's decorations for the convention, which with a little cleverness and ingenuity on the part of her committee head for decorations, had cost the club one fifth of what last year's had done. She stressed the point that the women can do anything, if they have the will.

She congratulated the New Castle women upon having one of their number, Mrs. S. D. Pearson, named to the state board. This is the first time a Lawrence county woman has ever had this honor.

She gave "more light" as the keynote of the convention, and consequently the theme of the speeches and demonstrations. Each speaker, she said stressed the personal responsibility of the club members as to the success of the club and its projects.

She dwelt briefly on the speeches of Dean Amos, Judge Sarah Soffel and Cameron Beck, giving the high lights of each speech. She concluded with telling the points needed for leadership; a definite plan for life; a purpose to succeed; perseverance to overcome obstacles and a passion for righteousness.

After she had spoken to the women, she answered many questions informally with the members.

Mrs. A. E. Street announced that Dr. B. E. Quick, traveler, lecturer and instructor would be the speaker at the next meeting.

MONDAY NIGHT EVENT IS BRILLIANT AFFAIR

The main dining room of the Cathedral presented a beautiful appearance Monday evening when the members of New Castle Chapter 105, Order of Eastern Star, entertained at a "silver coffee."

Seventy-five small tables, beautifully appointed and centered with a lighted taper, and several long tables, seated more than three hundred guests as a most entertaining and amusing program was presented.

The group included Carmen Benicase, Raymond Buchanan, Frank Colello, Eugene Fava, Joe Fava, Lester Grimm, Adam Pivovar, Grant Fehrenbaugh, Michael Sanangelo and Clyde Ober.

A one act play, "The Workus" was cleverly presented by students of Miss Clara Hartsuff's dramatic class of senior high school. Beckey Carson took the part of Emma Brierly; Marian Hughes portrayed Mrs. Omerod; Joe Fisher, the role of Sam Horrocks and Omar Donaldson the curate. Each part was taken in a professional like manner and the audience showed its appreciation in applause.

Katherine Wilcox, talented young reader, amused the group with her reading, "Mrs. O'Toole on the Street Car."

A second one act play "Dreams" was also presented by high school students with Bill Fletcher taking the part of Pierrot; Ruth Shale the role of Pierrette and Edwin Harper the part of the manufacturer. This was also portrayed in a splendid manner.

The program closed with a skit by DeLace Cole, whose imitable manner has made him one of New Castle's best known "local" actors. He gave a number of readings, some of which were his own compositions.

THE PAN-AMERICAN CONFERENCE, LIMITED

PRECISELY what will come of the Pan-American Conference at Montevideo, whither the secretary of state sailed on Saturday, it would be futile to predict.

The tariff questions which it was originally intended to discuss there have been perforce abandoned. The withdrawal of Great Britain from the tariff truce is one indication of the impossibility at the present time of international collaboration. The president has quite frankly come out for economic nationalism. The London Conference, of which so much was expected, failed largely for this reason. "The mutual economic national and international planning" of which Mr. Hull speaks is a horse of another color. It is apparently to be a non-political credit pact among the nations of the New World.

We shall have to wait for the opening of the conference to develop a clearer understanding of the situation. Mr. Hull doubtless felt it impossible to be explicit at this time. So he refers to the president's "good neighbor" policy and says that "a fine friendly feeling" will provide a helpful beginning. No doubt it will. And "an exhaustive study" of economic conditions, transportation needs and the like should be useful—how much so we can tell better when the conference gets down to brass tacks.

MARSHAL BALBO "EXILED"

Air Marshal Balbo's transfer to the governorship of Libya, involved in the acceptance of Premier Mussolini of the air portfolio in addition to those of the army and the navy, is causing considerable speculation as to whether the move is a promotion or a demotion for the bearded young commander of the air armad that negotiated the Atlantic crossing successfully last summer. Balbo, one of the most colorful figures in modern Italy, is said to be keenly disappointed over his transfer and has intimated his intention of taking a vacation of several months before going to his new post.

Eventual unification of the Italian defense units is seen in the step which brings them together under a common head. Premier Mussolini now holds six ministries in all—foreign affairs, interior, war, navy, air and corporations. There are seven he does not occupy—colonies, justice, finance, education, agriculture, communications and public works. He is pretty much the whole show so far as the Italian government is concerned, and any opposition to his plans does not get very far.

Consequently there is naught for Balbo to do but to swallow his disappointment as best he can and proceed to the post to which he has been transferred. Great as is his popularity in consequence of the fame that came to him as the leader of the seaplane expedition to the Century of Progress Exposition at Chicago, he dare not brook Mussolini's displeasure of manifestation of too great reluctance to comply with the decision of the Duce.

DRUG PROBLEM PERSISTS

China is always regarded as a pathetic victim of the trade in narcotic drugs. Foreign monopolies forced opium upon the Chinese against their will, and untold thousands succumbed to the habit. But China is not the only victim of this vicious trade. The United States suffers severely as a result of illicit trafficking in drugs.

The manufacture of habit-forming drugs is well under control in this country. Less than one-half of one per cent of the narcotics seized by federal agents are of American manufacture. No "dope" manufactured here finds its way abroad. Yet a large supply is smuggled into the United States. It is estimated that the losses caused by drug addiction and the cost of enforcing the anti-narcotic laws amount to at least a billion dollars a year.

For a number of years it has been agreed that the most effective way to control the drug traffic is to limit its manufacture. Narcotics are produced in large factories, which can easily be supervised. The manufacture of drugs can not be prohibited, because a limited supply is needed for medicinal purposes; but production could be curtailed so that drugs would be available only for legitimate uses. International agreements for that purpose have been entered into, but only a few nations live up to their obligations. As a result, the illicit drug traffic finds countless victims here. And there is little the government can do except to strengthen the barriers against smuggling.

SOMEONE SHOULD PAY

Dr. Dean Lewis of Baltimore, president of the American Medical Association, has called attention to a problem that has to be solved. Doctor Lewis points out that automobile accidents cause heavy expense to hospitals and to physicians with little if any recompense. Hospitals are called upon to attend those injured in highway accidents and seldom are they remunerated.

"Nobody, as a rule," says Doctor Lewis, "assumes responsibility for the accident and nobody feels that he should be held responsible for the hospital bill. As a result many hospitals are finding it difficult to keep open."

Naturally we are inclined to resent it if the hospital after an accident, asks: "Who is going to pay for this treatment?" But let us look at the other side. Hospitals at best have difficulty in keeping going. They are not self-supporting, as a rule. Attendance on accident patients, ambulance service, supplies, operations and nursing, all cost money. And nobody feels responsibility to pay.

Doctor Lewis suggests some form of insurance, or assurance, for payment of such hospital bills. This reminds us that we have not solved this problem of automobile insurance. Far from it.

This state with the Pearson law goes on the theory that everyone will carry insurance so that he can continue to drive—after an accident. The law specifies that he cannot continue to drive unless he can show that he is insured against accident or if financially responsible but he can have one accident and not be financially responsible. That goes on the theory that every dog is entitled to one bite. And a motorist can have one killing before he has to be financially responsible.

Doctor Lewis is right. Hospitals should have some assurance of payment for their services. Someone should be responsible.—Rochester Times-Union

WHY ARE YOU SERENE?

Young woman, I cannot make you out.

I never saw you before, I'll not be seeing you again, perhaps. But I remember you for a while. . . . You are so serene.

So neatly, charmingly dressed, with such care. Your hair curls sweetly below your little hat. You have such white, even teeth. Your eyes are clear and of such an even blue. And the seams of your stockings are so straight. You know they are. . . . The little smile that touches your lips so lightly shows that you are at peace in the world. . . . There's no one, at this moment, in all the world, more serene than you.

And that's what makes me wonder—why are you so serene?

Is it vanity?

Is it because you know you are nicely dressed? . . . Because you are popular? Because you have been recently praised and flattered? Because two young men think you are the fairest flower of creation? . . . Is that why you are so serenely waiting on a corner? . . . I wish I knew.

Or is this a serenity of strength? Would you be serene if your clothes were old and those chiffon stockings were made of cotton? Will you be serene when a touch of gray comes into those brown curls? Are you real or just a nice bit of scenery?

I'm not meaning to be critical and mean. . . . I like you as a passing decoration and wouldn't have you changed at all. . . . But what will happen to you when worry and terror and the burdens of life come down upon you, if they ever do? Will you be petulant then? Will you pout? Will you frown? Will you be nice to look at? . . . I wish I knew. . . . Because I'm curious and I'd like to know if this serenity is something strong and lasting and put together with bolts and braces, or if it is as frail as a wisp of dandelion floating on a breeze. . . . Something a man or a child can depend upon, something that holds you strong in the tempest of the years, or something we shall not see upon your face tomorrow. . . . I'd ask you, but it's not really my business. Pretty girl, that's entirely up to you, and I'm just a passing stranger going out of my way to do some vagrant wondering.

WINNING IS NOT EVERYTHING.

Doesn't your intense desire to win detract from your recreational play?

Minutemen so annoy you that you get less enjoyment out of it.

When your wrought-up condition asserts itself, you gain less of pleasure from the game and the association with friends.

Your workday life requires some recreation but you lose the beneficial results of games when you are disturbed mentally and physically in your efforts to win.

Some persons who play your favorite game seem to gain more enjoyment and physical help than you do, but they are not the expert players, of course.

When your whole idea is to become an expert you make your play a business.

You are working, not playing.

It might surprise you also to know that if you would become more nonchalant in your play, that is to be more relaxed in your play, it would improve your game immeasurably.

You are too tense, good play is a matter of luck, not consistency.

Be less stiff and determined; let your strokes be exactly right and don't let poor execution annoy you; and note your improvement.

You will be pleased with results.

OLD INSPIRATION

Queer old fellow! With his dreams still contented here he seems.

Neither loss nor sorrow's tears Nor the cares of all the years Have embittered him. He stays.

Finding much in life to praise.

"Oh," says he, "Sit down with me.

All your trouble let me know. Time will cure

The hurt, I'm sure. I went through it years ago."

Up and down and in and out. Bravely still he walks about.

Scattering words of hope and cheer Just as if he lingered here To encourage and inspire

All who falter, doubt and tire. "Yes," he'll say,

"You're sick today. Stunned and blinded by the blow. This won't last!

"Twill soon be past. I went through it years ago."

Queer old fellow, wrinkled, gray. At the sunset of his day

Looking back at loss and gain. Joy and grief and peace and pain And with understanding deep

All who falter, doubt and tire. "Yes," he'll say,

"You're sick today. Stunned and blinded by the blow. This won't last!

"Twill soon be past. I went through it years ago."

Set Date For River Hearing

Appeal From Decision Of Army Engineering Board Will Be Presented

DECEMBER 4 SET FOR ARGUMENTS

Following the filing of an appeal from the decision of the U. S. Board of Army Engineers, who had turned thumbs down on the Beaver-Mahoning river canalization project, the Rivers and Harbors Board at Washington, has set the date of December 4 for a final hearing on the modified canalization project.

The date has been found satisfactory to the officers of the Beaver, Mahoning, and Shenango River Improvement Association, and their claims will be presented at that time in the hope of securing favorable action to the modified canalization plan.

When the original project, which provided for canalization of the Beaver, Mahoning and Shenango was turned down by the army engineers, a modified plan was submitted which excluded the Shenango, and provided for canalization of the Mahoning river as far as Struthers, O.

This in turn was also rejected by the Army Engineers. An appeal and brief, holding that the army engineers erred in over-estimating the costs of the project and underestimating the potential tonnage available for the project, was filed by J. C. Argersinger, as counsel for the Youngstown Chamber of Commerce, and affiliated interests.

Decided, upon receipt of notice of the federal indictment, to return to Chicago to face court and jury. He had no good reason to fear political motives behind a federal trial. And back of all, the federal supreme court could have been trusted to do him full justice. The opinion of the dean was an argument in favor of Insull's welcoming a day in an American court, not for fighting to avoid it and permanently expatriating himself.

"It is not good to be in exile," thinks the HAVERHILL GAZETTE, but the YAKIMA DAILY REPUBLIC feels that "this country should not be required to furnish him board and lodging for the rest of his life, when so many of its people could use the money he would cost to good advantage." The ATLANTA JOURNAL, satirically referring to the tears inspired by the praise of his lawyers, replies: "He is not the plunger we have conceived him, but a philanthropist, a victim of his own insatiable generosity. In mere fairness, the sufferers from the Insull catastrophe, the tens of thousands who lost their life savings in his benevolent holding companies, should raise a relief fund that he may spend his exile days in comfort in the land of the olive and the vine."

Three Liquor
Control Bills
Are Introduced

First Day Of Special Session
Finds Legislators Ready
With Control Bills

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Nov. 14.—Three bills, all dealing with the control of liquor, were introduced in the house Monday. The senate heard Gov. Gifford Pinchot outline his plans on liquor control and various other points included in the special session call.

The first bill of the session, sponsored by Rep. Herman J. Tahl, Philadelphia, provided for issuance of liquor licenses by the courts and embodied local option provisions.

Rep. Patrick Connor, Philadelphia, introduced the second bill. It would revive the old Brooks high license law which reigned supreme in this commonwealth prior to the 18th Amendment.

For One Year.

Connor's measure would authorize judges of quarter sessions courts to issue licenses for a one-year period. The court would have sole jurisdiction over the granting of licenses but would be compelled to consider remonstrances as well as applications.

Both bills, if enacted, would not become effective until January 1.

Rep. J. M. Plinchbaugh, York, introduced a third bill to make it unlawful to transport beverages of more than 3.2 per cent alcoholic content in any motor vehicle except in the original sealed package. Penalties for violations would be six months imprisonment and $100 fine.

Senator George F. Reed, Dauphin, proposed to introduce a bill in the senate to continue prohibition in Pennsylvania until a state liquor control bill is enacted.

Stay Provisions
Of Retail Code

Sections Relating To Outside
Salesmen And Drug Deliv-erymen Stayed

Advice has been received by the local Compliance Board of the NRA to the effect that certain provisions of the Retail Code have been stayed until a hearing can be held by the President on the issues raised. Marcus Feuchtwanger head of the board here stated today.

The provisions which have been stayed by R. W. Lea, Acting Administrator for Industrial Recovery with the approval of A. D. Whiteside, Division Administrator, relate to outside salesmen and employees of retail drug establishments, engaged at least 60 per cent of their time in delivering merchandise outside the establishments in which they are employed.

This order exempts outside salesmen from the minimum wage provisions and also outside the drug store deliverymen, who are engaged at least 60 per cent of their time in delivering merchandise.

New Castle Boy Stakes Out
Claim In California Hills
Seeking Gold

F. M. Finefrock, New Castle boy, who has probably seen more of the world during his short life than any other local resident, is now in California, panning for gold, he states in a letter to the News editor.

He has a claim in the California hills which he states seems to be fairly good and expects to get enough of the precious yellow metal out before snow flies, to pay for his winter's grub and have a little left over.

Finefrock left home this summer and went to Baltimore from whence he shipped on the San Anselmo of the Quaker Steamship Line, and with his partner and shipmate, D. W. Smith, got together an outfit and started for the hills above Oroville, Calif., at Cherokee.

They built a sluice box of boards 12 feet long with riffles, screening, and bump boards for the gold to settle behind, and after working it for two or three days, take out the accumulation, and wash out the box. Gold in specks one can hardly see to the size of nuggets worth 25 to 50 cents have been found, he states.

This, together with the fish in the creek, deer and quail in the mountains, keeps them going, Finefrock says.

Old Age Pensions
Issue Again In
State Legislature

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Nov. 14.—Old age pensions, controversial measure of the 1933 regular session of Pennsylvania's general assembly, was back in the legislative fires today.

A bill providing for an old age assistance plan similar to the commonwealth's mothers' assistance fund, was introduced by Rep. Fred C. Peters, Montgomery.

The measure would limit assistance to persons over 70 years of age. Assistance in individual cases would be restricted to $20 monthly and $30 for married couples. Counties would be required to match state appropriations.

A joint resolution was introduced by Rep. Albert L. O'Connor, Cambria, which would amend the constitution by permitting the legislature to make appropriations to sectarian institutions engaged in general welfare and hospital work.

SHARON, Pa., Nov. 14.—The taxicab driven by Harry Blackburn, 35, when he disappeared last Tuesday was found in a garage near Warren, O. today, according to word received by C. W. Moyer and Sons, proprietors of the taxi line.

Police have abandoned the foul play theory and are convinced that Blackburn left Sharon voluntarily. The taxi was left in the garage the day after Blackburn's disappearance.

1934 Nash Big Six Brougham, $795, f. o. b. Kenosha, Wis.

1934 NASH

EVERYBODY expected Nash to do something brilliant in designing the 1934 Nash—and sure enough, the new Nash "Speedstream" style simply sparkles with grace, smartness and good taste.

And everybody expected Nash to step out and go the limit in making its 1934 models crowning examples of motoring luxury.

But who would have thought it possible for Nash or any manufacturer to go so far as to power the lowest-priced models of a new line like the higher-priced models, with Twin Ignition valve in-head motors?

That's exactly what Nash has done—in spite of rising manufacturing costs—in spite of the greater cost of building a Twin Ignition valve-in-head motor—and in spite of the fact that Twin Ignition never before has been engineered into a car selling under $1200!

There's almost a magic difference between a motor car with Twin Ignition and one without it. You can feel the difference in smoothness—and tests reveal the big difference of 22% more power, 5 more miles an hour top speed and 2 more miles to a gallon of gasoline!

Nash for 1934 has just about everything—including a new improved type of built-in draftless ventilation, providing unobstructed vision—a new synchro-shift transmission with all gears quiet at all speeds—and a new coincidental starter—everything to give Nash the edge in any comparison. See Nash before you say "Yes" in deciding on any new car.

Two Lone Troops
To Be Organized
Outside Of City

Girl Scouting Will Branch Out
To New Wilmington And
Pulaski This Week

In addition to three or four new troops within the city, the New Castle Girl Scout organization is in back of two lone Girl Scout troops which are soon to be instituted in the county.

One of the new lone troops will be at New Wilmington and will probably be organized tomorrow, November 15. The other will be at Pulaski and is scheduled to have its initial meeting on Monday, November 20.

Each troop will be controlled by a "community committee." Although entirely separate from the New Castle Girl Scout organization, the local Council will serve as an advisory body, will train leaders, etc.

New Castle now has a splendid squad of Girl Scout leaders, who received the required training during the past several months, and a number from this squad will soon be placed with troops. There is to be a new troop which will meet at the Highland U. P. church, another at the Second U. P. church, another at St. Joseph's church, and possibly one at the First U. P. church.

The local organization is growing steadily and surely, daily making itself part of the community, and quietly spreading its roots into new fields of endeavor.

Five Billion For Recovery

Huge Sum Is Poured Out By Government In Two And Half Years

By ROBERT S. THORNBURGH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Five billion dollars have been poured into the gigantic boiling pot of recovery by the government in the last two years and five months according to figures available at the treasury today.

In addition the government has pledged many additional millions for future use in the recovery program and has increased the circulation of paper money without gold backing by $278,888,284, at the same time reducing outstanding federal reserve notes, now virtually 100 percent gold backed by $824,390,595 since last March.

A supreme effort to stimulate credit by planing cash in the market has been made by the federal reserve system. From January 6, 1932 to November 8, 1933, the federal reserve banks have increased their holdings of government securities by $1,665,000,000, bring the total in the portfolios to $2,430,000,000. In recent weeks the purchases in the open market have been slowed up, but it was expected they would be stimulated should conditions justify. During the period in which the government has been seeking to stimulate business, the market has been speeded up to $100,000,000 weekly. Results, however, have proved rather negligible.

Net expenditures by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation from the date of its organization in February, 1932, to mid-November of this year have amounted to $1,758,054,262. The R. F. C. has financed the rejuvenation of the banking system, railroads, insurance corporations and other activities. It now plans to advance large sums in the plan to release a portion of the frozen deposits of closed banks, a move which the president believes will release about a billion dollars. The machinery of the proposal has never been described.

D. A. R. Will Extend Tribute To President General, November 15

In every state in the Union, each of the 2479 chapters of the Daughters of the American Revolution will hold a birthday party in honor of their president general, Mrs. Russell William Magna of Holyoke, Mass. A birthday cake bearing a hundred candles will be lighted at each party and the 100,000 members will bring their contributions and pledges for the liquidation of the amount still due on Constitution Hall, which has been set for the continental congress to be held in April, 1934. The program for entertainment will vary in each chapter, but at every meeting there will be sung a group of songs composed by Mrs. Magna.

Constitution Hall, the last of the trilogy of monumental buildings erected by the national society of the Daughters of the American Revolution, houses the continental congress, the annual meeting of the society always held in Washington during the week in which the 19th of April falls. It is one of the most stately buildings in a neighborhood which boasts of the Corcoran art gallery, the Red Cross group and the Pan-American building. Admirably adapted to its purpose, it is provided with a pipe organ, as well as a complete moving picture and sound equipment. Its erection was projected at the continental congress of 1925, during the administration of Mrs. Anthony Wayne Cook of Pennsylvania. In 1928, following the election of Mrs. Grace Lincoln Hall Brosseau as president general, actual construction was begun. Completed during the first year of the administration of Mrs. Lowell Fletcher Hobart, at a cost of a million and a half dollars, this monumental auditorium was dedicated October 23, 1929, with a solemn vesper service, at which the bishop of Washington, the Right Rev. James E. Fierman, delivered the consecration address.

From the beginning of the project, Mrs. Russell William Magna, now president general, has been chairman of the Constitution Hall finance committee, and in such capacity she has visited every state in the country and every city in which a state conference has been held, during the terms of office of the last two of her immediate predecessors. Dubbed the "official gold-digger" of the society, she collected more than a million dollars for the building without the cost of a single cent to the society. So widely known was she and so unselfish were her labors in the interest of the society's effort to provide an auditorium commensurate with its necessity, that in 1932 she was elected without opposition to fill the highest office in the gift of its membership.

As a tribute to Mrs. Magna's gallant and courageous leadership, November 15, her natal day, has been selected as the date on which the members of the society are to range themselves in chapter formation for the final effort to liquidate the remaining indebtedness on Constitution Hall, and place the final capstone on the efforts of the president general. Mrs. Magna plans to attend the reception being arranged in Constitution Hall on the evening of November 14 by the District of Columbia Daughters of the American Revolution, and will remain in the building until after midnight, when she will take an airplane for her home in Holyoke.

Structure Is More Than Century Old And Said To Be Only One In State

Few residents in Lawrence County appreciate the fact that in the old covered bridge, at Edenburg, the county possesses a landmark, which few communities own.

There may be covered bridges yet remaining in the state, but none of the type of this structure, built from hand-hewn timbers. Recently, a contractor, who has traveled widely throughout the state, asserted that it was the only one of its kind remaining.

The bridge, over the Mahoning river, was built in 1804 and is forty feet wide and 150 feet in length. In 1860, it was re-timbered with heavy re-inforcing beams to preserve it as long as possible.

The name of the Mahoning, which flows from the Ohio state line to Mahoningtown, was originally the Mogulboughton River, according to historians of the county.

Edenburg was once the center of the Wolf tribes, who roamed the district, and who were called Kuskush-kians. Until only a few years ago, the old war post stood near the edge of the present town of Edenburg, and the marks of the tomahawk were still visible upon it.

Mayor Says City Will Not Act To Collect Damages

The city police no longer will act as a collection agency following automobile accidents in the city. Mayor Mayne said Monday when a young man appeared before him in police court. The young man put up a $40.00 forfeit on a charge of suspicion Sunday night following a collision in which his machine struck another in East Lutton street. The mayor said the $40 would be returned when the damage was paid for but the city no longer will act as a collection agency.

Return Judges Find Incomplete Returns

Necessary To Open Some Ballot Boxes In Order To Get Needed Data

Return judges counting the vote cast at the recent election have been delayed by incomplete returns from some of the districts of the county. Under direction of Judge R. L. Hildebrand, it has been necessary to bring in several boxes.

For instance in the third district of North Beaver township, it was found that 49 votes had been counted for sheriff, and 50 for district attorney, whereas the check list showed that only 48 votes had been cast.

In the second district of Shenango township, it was found that no tally sheet had been included in the returns, and it was necessary to get it from the ballot box.

In the third district of Shenango, it was found that no tally sheet on the amendments to the constitution had been included in the returns. In Wayne, second precinct, there was a similar situation.

When errors are found the judges of election in the district being counted is notified.

Nothing serious has developed in connection with any of the returns.

Few Changes In Tax Assessments

Council Not Making Many Changes In Assessor's Figures

Triennial tax assessments for the next three years have not entirely been completed, it was reported in the city hall today. The assessors are working today in the Eighth ward.

Objections from Third ward residents to the assessments were heard this afternoon in city hall and Fifth ward persons who wish to appeal will appear November 16.

Council which has been acting as the board of appeals and revision failed to change any of the property assessments in the First or Sixth wards and this morning considered Second ward appeals.

After the board acts on the appeals the assessments are either confirmed or returned to the assessors for further investigation. They have indicated there will not be many changes.

Natale Not Taken Back To Struthers

Attorney Refuses To Waive Extradition To Ohio For Prisoner

NATALE DECLARES HE IS INNOCENT

Frank Natale, 41, Seventh Ward, held in connection with the fatal stabbing of Steve Tommaso, Struthers, Nov. 4, is still in the city jail here. During last night members of his family placed a guard over him as he complained of serious heart pains. The man's wife remained with him today.

Early today Angelina "Spencer", at whose home in Struthers the alleged murder occurred, visited the city police station. However, she was not allowed to see the prisoner.

Declares Innocent
Struthers police came here last night with the expectation of having Natale return without extradition papers. His counsel, Attorney S. L. Clark would not allow him to waive his rights. In the city jail Natale has declared his innocence.

Tommaso was fatally stabbed a week ago Saturday night at the Spencer house in Struthers. It is said a quarrel arose, he left, returned with a pump gun and threatened inmates lives. The Spencer woman is alleged to have seized the gun but failed.

In the struggle which continued through a door into an alley Natale and another man is said to have become involved and that Tommaso's stomach was punctured and his throat cut. He also was clubbed with the gun, it is said.

Police were called and Tommaso who is the father of five children was rushed to a Youngstown hospital where he died the next day.

Free Public Library Will Have "At Home" Period On Wednesday

Tomorrow is the day chosen by the New Castle free public library for an "At Home" phrase, although not very descriptive and certainly not appropriate for the nature of the event, is allowed to stand, for want of a better.

It really means that tomorrow is the day when all library borrowers are asked to bring to the library building for exhibit all articles, products, objects, etc., that attribute their existence to ideas or instructions found in library books.

That is, if a library book told you how to raise a Versi-colored pheasant, or how to make an especially attractive set of book-ends, or how to cook a husband-pleasing cheese soufflé—bring the bird or book-ends or souffle to the library. Stay with them for a few minutes until they are thoroughly inspected by the library patrons, then take them home.

Hours: From 2:00 p. m. to 4:00 p. m. for adults and from 4:00 p. m. to 6 p. m. for boys and girls.

Any one of the city, with or without exhibits to offer, are invited to be at the library during those hours.

There will be no charge for these classes and those women who are interested in them may attend any of the sections indicated above. The classes will be under the supervision of Mrs. Cora Humble Rigby, a graduate of a State Teachers college who has specialized in Health Education work.

Estimate Furnished On New Court House Cost As Affecting Taxation

Some idea of the cost of building the proposed court house, the amount of labor necessary, and the material to be consumed, can be had from estimates prepared by The Thayer Company, architects, according to figures presented to the county commissioners.

The data also goes into the present indebtedness of the county, the payments necessary for the redemption of bonds and the probable interest charges, as well as other matters in which taxpayers will be interested.

According to the data, in 1928 and 1929, the approximate cost of erecting a court house, would have been from $1 to $1.25 per cubic foot.

At the present time, with allowance for price increases due to adherence to price and wages under provisions of the N. R. A. the cost will be fifty-five to sixty-five cents per cubic foot.

The approximate cost of a new court house is $700,000, less thirty percent grant by the Federal government, or $490,000 net cost to the county.

Money that would likely be expended for direct labor, $225,000; money likely to be expended for materials produced in the county, $265,000.

The itemized estimate is as follows: Excavating labor, $11,371; material $1,900.

Brick work, $25,690; material, $44,310.

Stone work, $53,250; material, $113,750.

Marble and tile, labor, $4,200.

Concrete work, $40,760; material, $57,232.

Steel, $7,186; lath and plaster, $15,799.

Painting, $7,526; roofing, $3,281; glazing, $3,343.

Heating labor, $12,240; material, $27,167.

Plumbing labor, $11,720; material, $3,668.

Woodwork, labor, $25,350; material, $18,230.

Elevators, $5,344.

For material not produced in the county but which could be supplied by local dealers, $125,000.

For material produced wholly outside the county, $85,000.

At present the bond redemption requirements of the county are as follows: 1933, $115,000; 1934, $128,000; 1935, $134,000; 1936, $117,000; 1937, $103,000; 1938, $67,000; 1939, $41,000. Interest requirements: 1933, $51,840; 1934, $46,090; 1935, $39,885; 1936, $32,455 and 1937, $27,990.

It will be noticed that after 1935 the amount necessary for bond redemption steadily decreases, also the interest requirements.

It is pointed out that if a loan of $490,000 is secured at 4 per cent, the interest requirements would be $19,600 annually, which, less amount now paid for outside offices or $2,460, makes $17,140 annually, interest charges.

If an abatement of interest and principal payments would be secured for three years, no increase in tax assessment will be necessary, it is stated. If no abatement can be secured, the increase would be approximately fifty cents on each $1000 of assessment, the first year it is stated, decreasing with each succeeding year for three years, at which time the decrease in requirements for bond redemption and interest charges will more than amount to amount required to repay the loan.

Weekly Health Talk

"Despite repeated warning, many persons continue to lose their lives through asphyxiation. As with other accidents, carelessness is back of most of such premature deaths. Manufacturers of gas heating appliances have been interested in developing mechanisms wherein, so far as the contrivance itself is concerned, it is accident proof. Thoughtless persons who have untoward or fatal experiences with gas apparently fail to realize that while the heater itself may be fundamentally perfect, all appliances suffer more or less from wear and tear and in time need part replacements," states Dr. Theodore B. Appel, State Secretary of Health. "Manufacturers of such heaters are careful to warn users of them as to the proper method of handling them and of the necessity of keeping them in good condition. Such appliances are perfectly safe to use. Hundreds of thousands are daily on the job. But this fact is little solace to one who nearly or altogether loses his life because he foolishly concluded that such things were so constructed as to go on forever without attention. "A number of deaths from this cause were recently investigated by the Department of Health. In every instance the record revealed that the inexcusable carelessness of the operator was entirely to blame. In one case it was a leaky gas pipe, in another a worn out valve, and still another a deteriorated hose connection, and so the story went. "Safe performance of gas heating appliances that have been subjected to use includes a check-up on its parts, as well as free circulation of air in the room. Proper combustion cannot occur in a sealed-tight or near sealed-tight room. Carbon monoxide results. And in traceable quantities this deadly poison produces headaches. In appreciable quantities, as is well known, it kills. "Users of gas heaters would be wise to have them properly checked. If done, the least result will be better service, and the maximum result conceivably would be the saving of a life or lives. Indeed, reasonable inspection and prompt replacement of worn out or damaged parts could eliminate gas heater accidents and death."

To End a Cough In a Hurry, Mix This at Home

Saves Big Dollars! No Cooking!

Millions of housewives have found that, by mixing their own cough medicine, they get purer, more effective remedy. They use a recipe which costs only one-fourth as much as ready-made medicine, but which really has no equal for breaking up obstinate coughs. From any druggist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle, and add granulated sugar syrup to fill up the pint. The syrup is easily made with 2 cups sugar and one cup water, stirred a few moments until dissolved. No cooking needed. It's no trouble at all, and makes the most effective remedy that money could buy. Keeps perfectly, and children love its taste. Its quick action in loosening the phlegm, clearing the air passages, and soothing away the inflammation, has caused it to be used in more homes than any other cough remedy. Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway Pine, famous for its healing effect on throat membranes. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

If you think an operation is always the only way to escape the misery of torturing Piles, it's because you haven't heard of the harmless internal medicine discovered by a western physician. After years of study Dr. J. S. Leonard was convinced that the cause of Piles was internal—bad circulation of blood in the lower bowel—the hemorrhoidal veins filled with stagnant blood—and that the right and safe way to get freedom from Pile agony was to remove the cause with an internal medicine. Immediately the doctor set to work to find the remedy. He succeeded and called his prescription HEM-ROID. Second Winter Indoor Boxing Show Tonight

Eight Classy Bouts Arranged For Shelby Auditorium This Evening

ATKINSON-MORINI IN RETURN BOUT

Beginning at 8:30 tonight at the Shelby Auditorium, Ellwood City, and lasting for about the next two hours, sixteen of the finest amateur boxers of the district will be slugging leather at one or another in eight well matched bouts.

It is one more of those popular high class cards that has made Joe Latiano famous as a matchmaker for the Shelby. He has spared little effort in acquiring the cream of the various divisions for the bouts tonight.

Supremacy Fight
In the last four of the eight bouts followers of the amateur pugilistic game here will see one champion opposing another. The card is headlined by a return bout between Cuskie Morini of Ellwood City Western Pennsylvania lightweight champion and "Tiger" Ray Atkinson of Ellport, Beaver Valley welterweight champion. Fight fans of this city as well as Ellwood and Atkinson himself have been clamoring for a return bout since his defeat by a close margin at the Castle Bowl here recently. Atkinson and many people believed that he had earned the decision. The vote of the judges and referee of this fight was split, the judges favoring Morini, and Referee Tommy Jones, Atkinson. The fight was a glorious one in which clean hard punching and boxing skills were displayed ably.

Atkinson, in an interview today, stated that he intends to leave no doubt as to who the winner will be tonight. "Since I have fought him once now, I am more confident of my ability to handle him tonight. I expect to win by a knockout," he declared. Morini was equally as confident. "I showed up Ray in our first meeting at New Castle and expect to have no trouble doing it again."

An interesting feature of the meeting is that the two well known local amateurs spare little love for each other. They have been ill warring between the two camps as well as the past two years. Only until their meeting at New Castle has anyone been able to match them, and this didn't help the feeling between the two champs a bit. Anything can be expected in this fight. Both are skilled boxers and terrific punchers, and both have a splendid record.

In the semi-final Keith Goodball of East Liverpool, O., knockout artist and victor of Georgie Rocco of this city, will attempt to stop Paul Kravnak of Ellwood. Kravnak feels that he has sufficient skill over his slugging opponent to defeat him.

Evans Vs Richardson
One of the highlights of the card will be the sixth bout of the evening when Joey Evans of Ellport, Western Pennsylvania Featherweight champion will meet Harold Richardson, Allegheny Valley champion. These two lads met once before at Butler with Evans coming away with a close decision. Supporters of Richardson had Matchmaker Latiano rematch the two boys for tonight. Richardson is out to even the score.

Just preceding this fight, Bert "Kid" Sheets of New Brighton, Beaver Valley 112 pound champion will meet Nick Galore, Allegheny Valley Champion in another well matched bout. Sheets needs no introduction in these parts. It will be Galore's first appearance here.

Four New Castle boys will appear on tonight's card. The hard fighting Tony Adamo will meet John Anderson of New Brighton; Charles Arkkett of West Pittsburg who is connected with Paris Cangey's stable here will fight Ray Eberle of Pittsburgh, Pa. Frankie Rachig will meet Walter Burns of Ellport; and Jack Trotter will meet Jimmie Pasta of Ellwood City.

Ray Eberle of Allegheny will be the announcer once again. The third man in the ring has not been announced as yet.

Louden, Perrett And Donegan Score Touchdowns For Washington Hi

WASHINGTON LINE PLAYS FINE GAME

George Washington Junior high school football team playing the best brand of football they have shown all year defeated the strong Union High Reserves at the George Washington high field Monday afternoon. The final score was 18 to 0. Perrett, Louden and Donegan scored the touchdowns that gave the Carrollmen the victory. The big Washington high line played a fine defensive game. Washington high scored all of their points in the second half of the battle.

The Carrollmen had eight first downs to five for the Unionites. Union was outplayed in every department of the game. In the first period the Washington team with Donegan, and Cox doing the brunt of the ball carrying drove to the Union 10-yard line, but were stopped on downs, and Union kicked back down the field. Washington was on another march down the field when the period ended.

Perrett Is Star
In the second period the Union team took on a new life and on a series of fine plays took the ball to the Washington 25 yard line before being stopped by Clark, Bloise and Howley. Washington took the ball on downs and kicked to Union deep in their own territory as the first half ended with the score at 0-0.

The third period found the George Washington high team with new pep and at the end of the period they took a kickoff and marched down the field with Perrett and Donegan doing the best of the ball carrying. With Washington in possession of the ball on the Union 25 yard line Tony Perrett pulled off the best run of the game when he knifed through to the half-foot line, and on the next play carried the ball over for the first touchdown for Washington. Perrett looked very good on these two plays, and stamped himself as a coming star.

Donegan Scores
Donegan scored the second touchdown for the Washington team on a clever piece of football work, when he intercepted a Union pass on the Washington 40-yard line and ran for a touchdown. It was a fine piece of work on the part of young Donegan and he easily outstripped the Union team in his dash to the goal line. Washington again failed to make the extra-point. The score at the end of the third period was Washington 12 and Union 0.

Louden Goes Over
In the fourth period Louden intercepted Union pass and raced for the third touchdown just a minute before the game ended. This was also a fine piece of work on the part of young Louden and some clever sidestepping as he raced for the goal line. He had fine interference from Leonard and McCormick on this run.

The playing of Covelli, Clark, Leonard, Howley and Perkins stood out for the Washington high team on the line, with Perrett, Bridenbaugh, Louden and Donegan the big shots in the backfield. For the Union team the playing of Rudessill, Hughes, Carpenter, Wallace and Thompson, and Annerella.

Case Final Opponent Of Westminster Team

(Special To The News)
NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Nov. 14.—Westminster College ends the 1933 football season on the home field Saturday when it stacks up against Ray Ride's Case School team of Cleveland.

The Titans, following the hard game with Muskingum Saturday, hope to be able to get back into the best possible shape for the final encounter. Case, with a veteran team, is given the nod over the Titans, but there should not be a whole lot of difference between the two outfits.

For the final contest of the year, Lawther will probably allow James Bloker, Sandusky, O.; George Hollander, Freeport, N. Y.; and Mauno Siljander, Pittsburg, all seniors, to see plenty of action. These three men are the only ones to be lost to next year's squad, but the squad is now smaller than any other in the district, and the loss of these men will be serious unless new material is available next fall.

Catholics To Play
Catholic A. C. football team will play the strong Elders team at Dean Park field Saturday morning of this week. The Catholics are undefeated in two starts this year. Fabian, DeCaprio and Ross are the coaches. DeCaprio is the big star for the Catholics.

Toledo High Has Big Team

New Castle 'Red Hurricane' Will Be Outweighed In Saturday's Game

New Castle high school "Red Hurricane" football team will be up against a bigger and faster team this week, when Toledo Scott high comes to Tassart field, for the first time in the history of the two schools. The Ohio eleven resembles a college team. The line will average about 175 pounds.

The sons of Pa New will get a severe testing. This looks like the best game on the 1933 card. New Castle hopes to defeat the famous Scott team.

Coach Phil Bridenbaugh gave the New Castle high team a rest Monday afternoon following that tough battle with Butler high last Saturday. The New Castle team is in the best of shape. There were no serious injuries in the Butler battle.

Scott Is Powerful
Bridenbaugh will give the New Castle team a lot of new plays this week. It isn't going to be brawn that will beat Toledo, if the locals do win the game, because the Ohio line will be bigger and may charge faster than the local forward wall.

The Toledo Scott backfield will have a couple of triple threat men in it. They are big, rangy and fast. Taking it all in all the "Red Hurricane" had better be more than good this week to keep that two-year record intact.

Faculty Manager Ralph G. Gardner is making arrangements to handle the biggest crowd of the year this Saturday. The fans will flock to see Toledo in action, as this is one of the smartest and finest equipped schools in the United States. A real colorful attraction, and a worthy opponent for the New Castle team.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Hockey returns to the big stem for its ninth season Thursday night when the New York Rangers, current champions of the world take the ice against the Detroit Red Wings.

There was a time—when that not so many years ago—when the opening of a hockey season in New York came under the ho-dum-department of the local press.

Now it draws its full quota of publicity like any other major sport. And with reason. New York is not quite as hockey conscious as Montreal or Toronto, and its devotees are, if anything, more rabid than their Canadian brothers.

Several world championships attained by the Rangers plus the education of the fans, have brought about a condition where a capacity crowd of 15,000 are no exception in Madison Square Garden.

Les Patrick, coach of the Rangers and vice president of the Garden, said today he believed the Rangers would play to 250,000 at home this season and might do a 200,000 business on the road.

The only menace to the continued popularity of hockey lies in the gambling fraternity. If the hot breath of scandal ever scorches hockey the game will melt into disfavor as quickly as the ice on which it is played.

Report

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 14.—All in all the trip of Superintendent of Ellwood City Schools Vaughn R. DeLong and Architect B. J. McCandless to Harrisburg last week was very successful according to their report to the local board of education at a special meeting last night in the Lincoln school.

Supt. DeLong and Architect McCandless reported that the application of the school district for a sum of $100,000 for the construction of a new wing to the Lincoln high school, as a loan from the federal government, was approved by state and government authorities. With a few suggestions and recommendations the plans for the new construction were approved.

State officials pointed out to the school authorities that they should at least have another gymnasium for satisfactory work here. It was recommended that the construction of a new gym be included in advertising for bids.

Suggestions were made to increase the size of several rooms from 33 feet to 42 for science and geography purposes. These changes would be made within the same space as originally planned in the size of the new wing.

The board approved the application for funds at this time.

Red Cross Has Roll Call Rally

Residents Of Castlewood Are Told Of Work Done During Past Year

ANNUAL ROLL CALL UNDER WAY

Residents of the Castlewood district were told of the work which has been done through the Lawrence County Chapter, American Red Cross, at a meeting which took place in the Harmony Baptist church last evening.

The meeting was called in connection with the annual Roll Call of the Chapter, which is now under way in the rural districts of the county.

Dr. G. S. Bennett, chairman of the County Emergency Relief Board, was the principal speaker of the evening. Dr. Bennett praised the work done by the Red Cross during the emergency and cited a number of instances of how they had assisted the Relief Board.

Other speakers were M. B. Hogue, county welfare officer; John C. Syling, Roll Call chairman, and Executive Secretary Orville Potter. The Roll Call drive, which opened Armistice Day, will last through Thanksgiving Day.

Post Office Talks Delivered To Lions

Club Hears Eckles, Myers, At Luncheon Tuesday; Plan Trip To Valley

The city's Lions club Tuesday heard Robert A. Eckles, head of the W. G. Eckles company, post office architect firm, and Federal Construction Engineer Miles E. Myers, government representative on the project, describe the new building which Uncle Sam is erecting here.

The two spoke at the club's regular weekly luncheon.

Featuring the noon-hour session was the appearance of Evangelist William Rawlins, who with Mrs. Rawlins are now appearing in night services at the City Rescue Mission. They sang duets.

The Lions club planned to attend a regional meeting of Lions clubs at Beaver Falls on November 28. Under the chairmanship of Attorney William Coburn, the club's constitution and by-laws are being revised and on December 5 the club will vote on the revamped rules.

Mystery Bullet Goes Through Store Window

Thomas Gentle and J. D. Kaylor managers of the Murphy store on East Washington street narrowly escaped what might have been a serious injury about 8:00 o'clock Monday night while they were working in the store.

About 8:00 o'clock last night they heard a bullet whizz through the Apple Way entrance of the store. The bullet pierced its way through the glass of the door and lodged into some clothes in the store. The managers investigated but were unable to find anyone outside.

Mr. Gentle and Mr. Kaylor were fortunate that they were not passing the door at the time, or a serious injury to one of them might have been the result. The bullet hole was measured and found to be that of a .32 calibre. The two men were unable to find the bullet.

Jasper McLevy

The election of these three men to the Mayoralties of their respective cities is looked upon as something in the nature of a political cataclysm. Jasper McLevy, a hardy annual Socialist candidate for office for 20 years, was elected mayor of Bridgeport, Conn., becoming the first Socialist mayor of the state. William McNair, Democrat, broke the stranglehold of the Mellon-Grundy machine in rock-ribbed Republican Pittsburgh by defeating the G. O. P. incumbent, Mayor Joseph Herron. Frederick Mansfield, Democrat, won a signal victory over the dominant machine in Boston with the backing of the city's Good Government Association. (Central Press)

Youth Is Held For Death Of Hunting Chum

Indiana County Youth Tells About Fatal Shooting
In Woods

(International News Service)
INDIANA, Pa., Nov. 14.—A coronor's jury ordered Mike Elko, 16, of Dixonville, held today on a charge of manslaughter pending further probe of the death of the boy's young companion while the pair were hunting.

The jury recommended the charge after listening to a statement, which police said Elko himself made, that Florio Kluchorsky, 17, also of Dixonville, was fatally wounded when a shotgun was accidentally discharged in Elko's hand. Location of the wound, authorities said, would indicate the victim was standing with his back to the weapon when felled.

Testimony presented to the jury also said that Elko moved Elko to direct searchers from the scene of the accident. In his statement, the boy said he started out for help but became panic-stricken and fled home leaving the wounded youth lying in the snow. He was dead when searchers came upon him.

Mapmaking Art Is Studied By Scout Leaders Of City

County Engineer's Aide Guides
Men In Course; Open
Work Last Night

Eighteen scout leaders from 11 different local troops met at the County Engineer Thomas A. Gilkey's office last night for the first session in a training course of "map making" designed to teach scout leaders how to instruct their troops in this art. Glenn Throop led the session last night, and a good deal of preparation work was covered. Use of the compass, protractor, cross-ruled paper and so on, was explained and general principles in making the first traverse map using bearing only. The men were much interested in this and asked many questions. Later in the evening, old maps of local territory were shown, and it was tremendously interesting to note how much of the land now occupied by the city of New Castle was owned by soldiers as a grant from the government. A colonel got 500 acres "with allowances" and a private might have gotten 100 acres. Probably five or six such tracts make up most of the business section of the city today. Farther out in the county each site was named, such titles as "David" "Hindrance" and so on, being shown.

On Saturday afternoon the class will assemble at the end of the Highland avenue car line, dressed for the weather, and prepared to take field notes sufficient to work up a good map at home later on. Each man is asked to bring a compass, pencil, protractor (if he has one) and the council will furnish backing for the maps and cross-ruled paper. Men are also asked to bring a straight edge for ruling bearings. The first session was a very good one and all are looking forward to the actual field work on Saturday.

The men were also reminded of the start of the scoutmaster's course at Westminster college tomorrow evening, and several were arranging for transportation.

Henderson May Resign Post As Conference Head

(International News Service)
GENEVA, Nov. 14.—Seemingly headed for collapse. The world disarmament conference received another terrific jolt today in the form of an official statement from Arthur Henderson, its chairman. Threatening to resign unless the nations concerned show "greater determination and progress."

That Henderson was seriously considering throwing over the chairmanship was exclusively revealed by International News Service yesterday. His statement revealed the apparent hopelessness of the situation caused by Germany's withdrawal from the arms conference and Italy's action in reducing her delegation to the status of "technical observers."

(International News Service)
VANDERGRIFT, Pa., Nov. 14.—Retreating a refusal to allow her to use the local high school auditorium for a speech the Vandergrift school board again today notified Cornelia Bryce Pinchot she was barred.

Ten days ago, the governor's wife asked permission to use the high school auditorium for an address under the auspices of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin workers.

Today, the following telegram, signed by R. W. Dummire, was sent to the militant first lady.
"Reconsideration of request for meeting is respectfully refused."

Request Governor Condemn Violence In Farm Holiday

Renewed Activity In Two States
Marks National Farm
Strike

(International News Service)
DES MOINES, Ia., Nov. 14.—Renewed activity in two states marked the national farm strike today with Minnesota county authorities appealing to Gov. Floyd Olson "to condemn violence."

Voting to start a non-buying, non-selling movement immediately, 60 representatives of holiday associations in seven southern Minnesota counties joined the National Farmers Holiday Association strike. Arrangements were made for organized picketing.

Prosecutors and sheriffs of eight southern Minnesota counties followed this action with a petition to Gov. Olson. They requested the governor to proclaim his "disapproval and condemnation" of the use of force and violence by the strikers.

Court House Land Owned By County

No Reversion Clause In Deed
Given To County By Late
David Crawford

Some question has arisen regarding the ownership of the land upon which the present court house stands, the point being whether or not it reverts to the heirs of the original owners, in case the new court house is not "laced on the land."

County Solicitor John P. Lockhart, has examined the title and finds that the land was given to the county by David and Rebecca Crawford by deed dated June 19, 1850. There were no strings attached to the donation, the land being given outright, so that it would not revert to the heirs of the original owners in case the new court house should be located elsewhere.

The tract upon which the court house stands is 140x300 feet. As the new court house will be several stories high, it would be possible to place the new court house on the original tract, but additional land would be a great advantage, in view of the intention to erect a jail and sheriff's residence.

The present court house was completed in 1852.

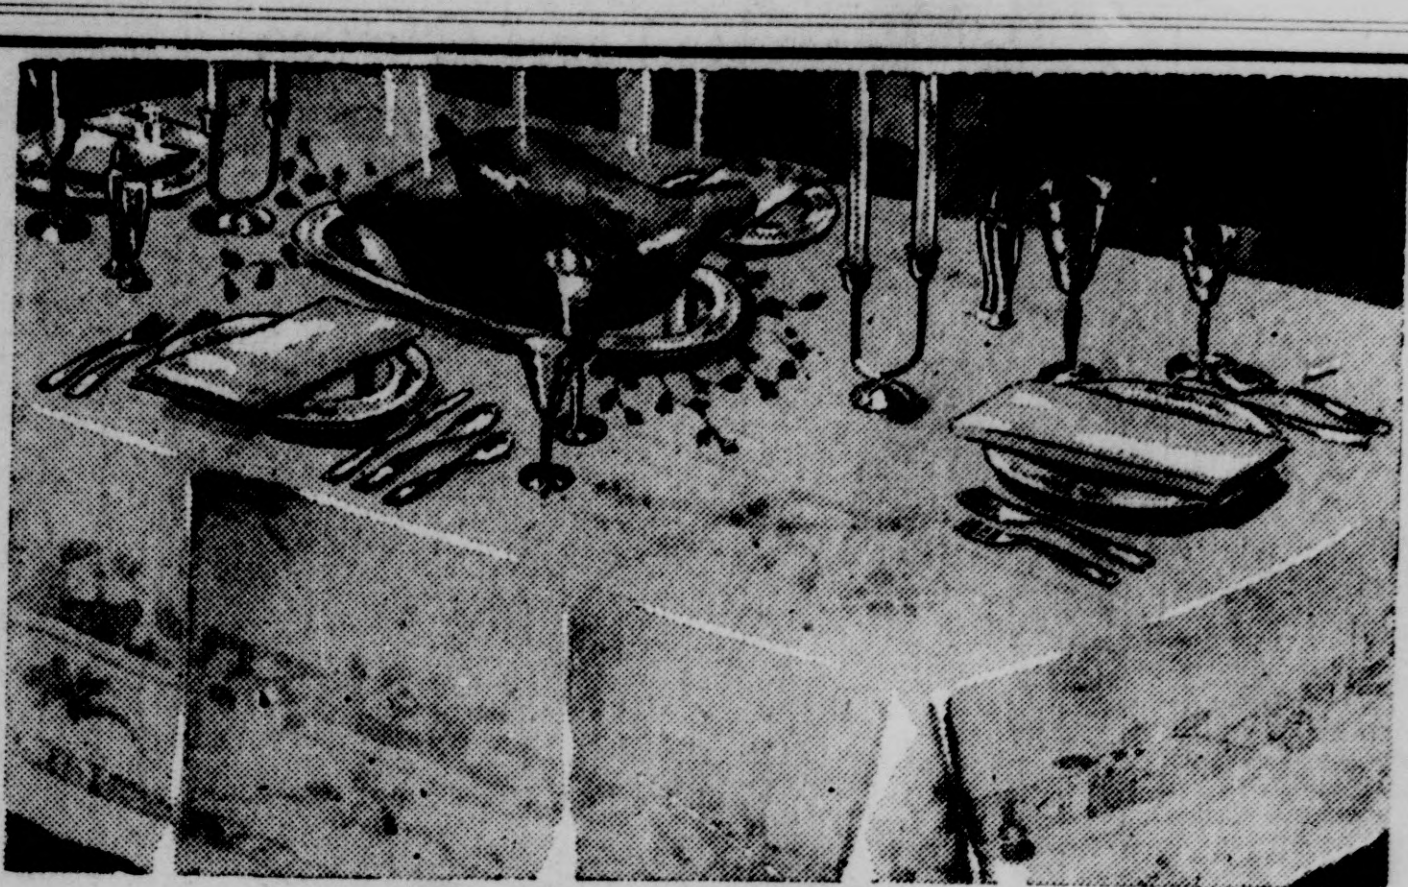

Federal Loans Must Be Repaid Declares Ickes

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Huge outlays from the federal treasury to finance municipal public works projects must be repaid.

This flatly-stated dictum was made today by Secretary of Interior Ickes in charge of the fast-dwindling public works fund of more than $3,000,000,000.

It lay behind his summary dismissal of Harry S. Berry, Tennessee public works engineer, who had suggested these funds might not have to be repaid. Berry was regarded as having circulated the letter with its suggestion, largely to inject courage into backward municipal officials who were afraid to submit applications for huge funds with their depleted local finances.

Federal Loans Must Be Repaid Declares Ickes

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Huge outlays from the federal treasury to finance municipal public works projects must be repaid.

This flatly-stated dictum was made today by Secretary of Interior Ickes in charge of the fast-dwindling public works fund of more than $3,000,000,000.

It lay behind his summary dismissal of Harry S. Berry, Tennessee public works engineer, who had suggested these funds might not have to be repaid. Berry was regarded as having circulated the letter with its suggestion, largely to inject courage into backward municipal officials who were afraid to submit applications for huge funds with their depleted local finances.
